

The agents introduce new utterances and social consequences while the press event remains shared.